

Eloquent Records and Archives

These are all the tables required for the fully integrated system, which supports active, inactive, and archived material. It also supports all forms of "content" that optionally becomes available to the public.

